Good morning!

We're excited that you're auditioning for The Oracle and / or The Companion. Please bring a monologue or an improv that you can do for us. We also might ask you to give or interpret a small "reading." Feel free to dress the part.

Note that while The Oracle and The Companion intend to enlighten these coastal villagers for two weeks... we plan to cast several individuals, so we should be able to work with whatever your availability during this time may be.

Also, this is a live theatrical / performance piece... but we realize that you may have a reel you're wanting to expand... so we're happy to tape your work and provide you with copies.

We look forward to meeting you!

The Oracle at Hcaeb

Heaven and Earth.

Body and Mind.

The Known and... the Unknown...

As Humankind has pulled itself up from the mire of primordial existence, the questions have always outstripped the answers.

Birth... consumption... excretion... procreation... death...

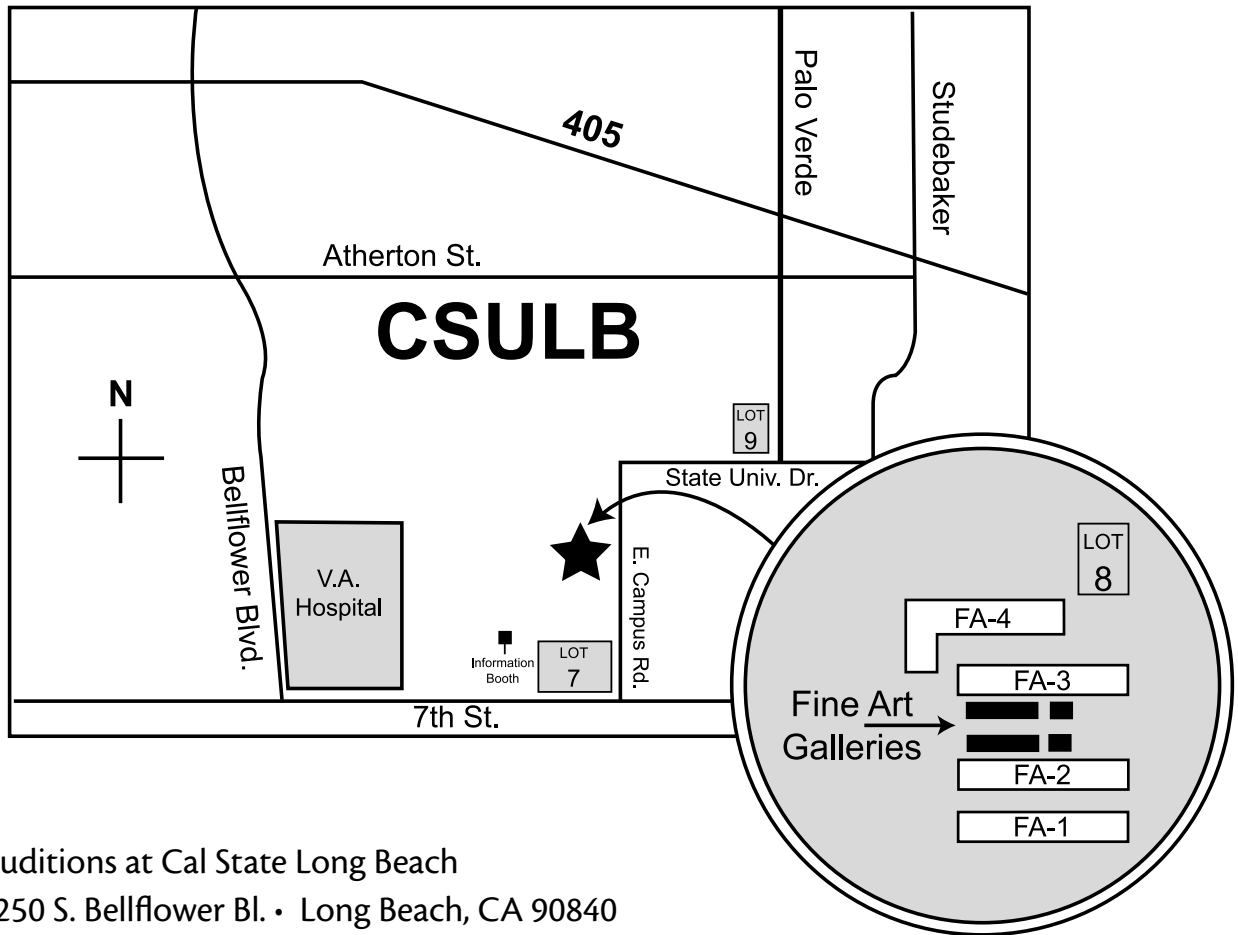

We experience the most fundamental events of existence in an anesthetic haze. Our lives transpire and expire yet we have only the vaguest conception of why. Many believe that the opiate blur of this life will be followed by clarity in the next. Still, we struggle. If only there were insights. If only there was access to the secret knowledge of the other realm. If only we didn't have to struggle to assemble a puzzle without the vaguest knowledge of the picture on which we toil...

There are those who exist in this physical realm... yet have glimpsed knowledge from another realm... Often this connection, this metaphysical ear, this link to the mind of God, is purchased at some extreme price to the body. Through the ages physical trauma and limitation has often been associated with access to secret knowledge. There have always been those whose half alive bodies... whose cut-across lives... hold one foot in our reality and one ear in that metaphysical realm. The Oracle at Delphi was one. Stephen Hawking is another. Perhaps in some sense, even "The Great Oz" was such an individual. The Oracle at Hcaeb and The Companion are most certainly such individuals. Their bodies have traveled this physical earth providing hungry souls with insights, often cryptic, into their greater destiny. For a fortnight The Oracle and The Companion will visit a North American coastal town and offer guidance to petitioners.
